

Art Competition

Draw a picture to promote recycling and get yourself a free ice-cream!

The children of Portreath School have been invited to help promote recycling in the village. The Atlantic in Portreath have created a new recycling area and they would like the children to draw pictures and posters to decorate the area. The picture might be a general one to encourage recycling or it might be specific e.g. 'Recycle plastic here' (or paper/general waste/glass). This work links to the #Love Portreath campaign, so perhaps that phrase could be used on some of the artwork too.

The idea is that they will choose some of the artwork and merge it together to create art around the area. Any child whose art work is used will get a free ice-cream as a thank-you from the Atlantic and even better than that, they get their work displayed in the village.

Please can entrants be on A5 or A4 paper, have the name and age of the child on the back and be handed in to the school office by Wednesday 28th March. Mrs Pamplin will then pass them on to The Atlantic on Thursday 29th March.

Good luck!
